[illegible]SDAY MORNING, JANUARY [illegible]

Now and Then

We have in our [illegible] resting memento of the early days of Oregon and at the same time a faithful chronicle [illegible] times in the first vol ume of the Oregon Spectator the first paper ever published in this State [illegible]teen years ago to day the editor and the type were busy and rep ar ing for its first issue The press and material were owned by the [illegible] Printing Association the principal stockholders in which was the Methodist Mission W G T[illegible] was the first editor and makes his bow to the public with a disclaimer of any intention to make the Spectator a political organ. Removed [illegible] political centres, and with no voice in public affairs it was deemed best that politics should not be [illegible] as an ingredient of discord into Oregon life

Oregon City was then the focal point of the whole county, Portland hardly existed in imagination, and Champoeg and Salem were striving for trade and importance upon the Upper Willamette There is printed in the first number a "post office law," passed by the House of Representatives of Oregon, creating a Postal Department with its headquarters at Oregon City The Spectator made its appearance semi-monthly, terms three dollars per annum in coin, or five dollars in currency, the last being "store trade," Hudson Bay orders and such like, and the Spectator soon went ahead with several hundred subscribers. The second number describes the Willamette river, and the cities upon its banks. First of course comes Oregon City, an incorporated place containing "500 souls," and the Spectator triumphantly announces that, "we are informed that where Oregon City now stands, it was three years ago a dense forest of fir and underbrush," and gives a list of churches, mills, stores, shops and dwellings to show "the march of improvement, with gigantic stride," which would have been greater but for the lack of "paint and nails." Linn City and Multnomah City have favorable notices, though they figured much more largely then than now Early in April after two months' incumbency T Vault writes his valedictory in rather a bitter tone his politics don't suit and he is to be succeeded by H A G[illegible] who follows with a rather long expose of his editorial views; within six months he again is succeeded by G. L. Curry, Esq, who had just crossed the plains, and assumed the editorial chair with a few words of timely greeting.

The volume is a valuable book to refer to and form an idea of the state of things upon this coast before the discovery of gold had filled the hills and valleys of the Pacific with busy occupants, cultivating the soil or searching for treasure But the Spectator did not suit its proprietors very long under the editorial management of the last named gentleman, and the result was that Mr. Curry soon established the Oregon Free Press in opposition to the old Spectator The Press, in its weekly issues, was well supported by the people, and soon had five hundred subscribers at five dollars per annum, and then no doubt politics was all the rage All this while California had no importance and commanded no influence The emigration across the plains brought occasional news to the remote settlements in Oregon though their principal source of supply was from the Sandwich Islands, where the Spectator and Free Press found cotemporaries to exchange with in the Polynesian, Friend and News—papers that were at different times published there by the Mission and other parties

It required a good deal of inventive sagacity to start the Free Press in operation There was only a font of French type procured from the Catholic Mission at Champoeg, and the press was manufactured out of crab apple and yew and though cumbersome in make, answered very well the purpose for which it was intended There was no "W" in the French type and two "V's" were used, or the "W" made by turning an "M" up side down and filing the edges somewhat The discovery of gold turned all the male Oregonians loose, looking up their share of the valuable deposits Literature flagged on the Willamette for awhile, only to revive the more when time brought greater prosperity to their doors than was anticipated by the wildest visionary of 1846.

Now our people have morning and evening papers to read in a spot that was then unheard of as an important business point steamships ply the ocean to and from us, and river boats climb the streams where were then unknown wildernesses while the telegraph brings us word in the evening of the important matters that have transpired at New York or Washington since the sun rose upon those places, and the news is read by the very ones that in 1848 waited for some vessel to bring them word via Honolulu of news almost a twelve month old, or who learned from the weary emigrant what happened at the East before he left, or heard something told by the [illegible] brigade of Hudson Bay men just crossed from "York House" to Vancouver

IRON STEAMSHIP WATEREE.—[illegible] now at San Francisco to be followed by the Suwanee of same character two vessels built expressly for the Pacific They are [illegible] double ender plan built in five s[illegible] water tight compartments Her length is 245 feet [illegible] 1,030 tons speed from 13 to 15 miles an hour [illegible] armament 12 guns two of which are 10 pound [illegible] The ultimate destination of the [illegible] unknown The Suwanee is in process of construction.

SENDING MONEY.—Those sending greenbacks enclosed to the OREGONIAN will please be careful to make the same fast to the enclosure as loose money will easily wear a way through the envelope and be lost, when a little care might save them and ourselves and the postmasters [illegible]

ON THE ROCKS.—The [illegible] we see by the Victoria [illegible] was on the rocks at Trial Island though it was thought that she would soon be got off

FREE PORT.—The [illegible] of Victoria is small that [illegible] probably the del[illegible] the Legislative Assembly will soon decide the matter for them

[illegible]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2[illegible]—The Richmond [illegible] takes [illegible] appeal [illegible] tion of negroes Congress [illegible] of all [illegible] It says [illegible] the enemy who make war [illegible] these States shall wish [illegible] independence but that war continual [illegible] shall be the object and purpose of these people

A Charleston letter to the Richmond Dispatch says many furious advocates of [illegible] with as many most confident [illegible] supporters of our holy cause in 1861 are now most despondent owing to the reverses which have overtaken our armies and the demoralizing influence of blockade running trade, have brought this great change, so that Charleston of to-day is no longer Charleston of formerly European News.

NEW YORK, Jan 28.—The [illegible] from Liverpool the 14th and Queenstown the 15th has arrived

The press of Vienna says the following is the purport of the notes exchanged between Austria and Prussia Austria repudiates a participation in the proposed forcible measures against the Middle States represented by Bismarck as revolutionary Austria will not abandon the ground of federal right and reminds Bismarck in case Prussia should desire the annexation of the Duchies of a suggestion formerly offered to the effect that Austria would only consent to annexation on being compensated by the enlargement of her German territory

The King of Prussia had opened the Chambers. In his speech he says steps will be taken to form a Prussian navy, preliminary surveys are being made for a canal between the Baltic and the North Sea the Duchies are to be annexed.

LIVERPOOL, Jan 15.—The steamer Celia a blockade runner hence for Wilmington was totally lost this morning off the bar of the Mersey The loss of life is from 15 to 40

How Things Look at Richmond.

The Herald's Washington special says Mr Blair reports there are plenty of peace men in Richmond among the rebel leaders All are so jealous and watchful of each other that no one dares to make advances towards an official overture for a cessation of hostilities

It has been determined by them notwithstanding their recent disaster to make one more desperate effort, by placing the negroes in their army and more vigorous enforcement of a conscription of white men to achieve their independence

President Davis has issued a proclamation appointing Friday, 10th March next as a day of public fasting, humiliation, prayer and thanksgiving for invoking the favor and guidance of Almighty God He earnestly invites all soldiers and citizens to observe the same in a spirit of reverence, penitence and prayer

BALTIMORE, Jan 26.—A dispatch to the American says Blair arrived there this afternoon He reports that among the many leaders in Richmond, Jeff Davis included, there is a strong feeling towards making peace on the best terms within their power

From North Carolina.

FORTRESS MONROE, Jan 25.—The steamer McClellan, from Fort Fisher reports that our gunboats were gradually feeling their way up the river, and were some four miles above the Fort when she left. Our troops were quietly organizing for further operations

WASHINGTON Jan 26.—Admiral Porter in a report to the Secretary of the Navy, says We picked up a telegram from Lee to his subordinates here, saying that if Fisher and Caswell were not held how could be under the necessity of [illegible] Richmond

The Herald's Newbern correspondent says An important bridge was almost entirely swept away by the late freshets This is a very serious interference with the transportation of the rebel army supplies. It is said that months will be required to repair it

Large numbers of runaway slaves are constantly coming into the Union lines for the purpose of enlisting in our army.

The Herald's Cape Fear river correspondent gives the details of the important success of our army and navy, besides all the guns and ammunition captured in the Forts Immense supplies of rebel provisions were also secured with other property of considerable value The rebel troops in front of Terry made a slight demonstration last Monday but it amounted to nothing. Deserters report that two divisions of Lee's army recently passed through Wilmington on their way to South Carolina Terry's army is in fine condition and is rapidly preparing for further operations Porter's gunboats are gradually making up towards Wilmington

Charleston and Sherman.

The Charleston correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch says If Sherman succeeds in getting possession of Branchville, the fall of Charleston will soon follow

Late rebel papers continue to show confusion and double despondency regarding the success of their Confederacy

NEW YORK, Jan 27.—A Charleston letter to the Richmond Dispatch says Sherman has commenced a movement against Charleston and Branchville The enemy are from either near Branchville or at a point near Augusta The fall of Charleston has become merely a question of time and a short time at that

Sherman had issued an order in reference to negroes within his lines, the young and able bodied men are to be enlisted in the military service the South Carolina Sea Islands, and the abandoned rice fields and plantations of the Florida and South Carolina coast are to be set apart for the settlement of the old men, women and children, and a system is to be appointed Superintendent of the [illegible] All the old tradition have been removed from the main channel to Savannah harbor and it is now open to navigation

From Mexico and Central America.

NEW YORK Jan 27.—Later advices from Mexico have been received It was reported that Mc[illegible] in command at Matamoras [illegible] Brownsville [illegible] refugees [illegible] New Orleans [illegible] an interview under a flag of truce Capt [illegible] in a very [illegible] which Max[illegible]

A cavalry [illegible] in the Charlestown road on Wednesday [illegible] that the rebels were [illegible] the movements of [illegible] fallen back

NEW YORK, Jan 2[illegible]—The Herald's Winchester [illegible] reconnaissance [illegible] the Valley to Berryville [illegible] the Shenandoah was found to be very high and impracticable to crossing. The smaller streams flowing into the Shenandoah were also high. The command returned to camp and Millwood and Winchester pike without finding any enemy

The fragments of Breckinridge's army that escaped from Stoneman and Burbridge are at Lynchburg. Rosser's cavalry command is divided and stationed at Staunton and Woodstock.

Wickham's brigade of Rosser's division which made the raid on Beverly retreated up Cheat Mountain Valley and Buffalo river through Big Run Gap to Staunton where the prisoners were sent by railroad to Richmond.

A LADY CORRESPONDENT'S VIEW OF PORTLAND.—Under date of January [illegible] a lady correspondent writes to the San Francisco Bulletin [illegible] of a trip by steamship to Oregon, which is a very fine pen picture of things on the northern coast of the Pacific. Traveling by night up the Columbia river, the lady was deprived of an opportunity to witness the beauties of its surrounding cliffs, etc. Arriving at Portland, the following is her view of the city: "We are having pleasant weather now, and the sight of Mount Hood and Mount St. Helens, either of which I can see by turning my eyes, is a sight to rejoice in. I am disposed to be pleased with the [illegible]. Summer must convert Portland into a very charming residence for any of nature's familiars, who, like myself, can find sweetest company in clouds and trees, streams and mountains, and all the delicate lines of light and shadow, from dawn to dusk of a summer day. The business of Portland is thriving, and the [illegible] State of the Pacific promises to achieve a future for herself by giant strides henceforth." We are pleased to assure the fair writer that her imagination is correct, and should she remain a year with our people, will more than realize her hopes, and [illegible] experience as much regret in leaving our shores as was felt upon leaving the "Golden" State. Fine scenery abounds on the rock bound shore of the Pacific, but none can be more delightful than that of the Columbia, or what may be seen from Portland.

LOSS OF THE CROSBY.—We regret very much to record the loss of Captain Ketchum's fine new vessel, the schooner Alice L. Crosby, which was wrecked on Tansy Point, below Astoria, a week ago last Sunday. The Captain was "beating" up the bay, bound in with a cargo of coal, and by having "missed stays" was driven ashore in strong north-east gales. The crew escaped, and there was no loss of life, but our report reads that the vessel and cargo is a total loss. We are informed that some hope is entertained by Captain Ketchum that he may be able to save a portion of the hull to construct another vessel from. It is a bad affair. The craft was built last season at Astoria, and was making her third trip in a profitable business.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTH DAY BALL.—The Washington Guard, Capt. Mills, of this city, propose giving a ball at Turn Verien Hall on the 22d of February, in honor of Washington's birth day, which will also be their first annual ball. This company is known as one of the most popular militia organizations in the State, and is deservedly worthy of such esteem, having won it by efficient drill and perseverance. The members of the company are entitled to credit for sustaining their organization so well, and we hope to hear of them being endorsed with a crowded assembly at the first annual ball.

THE VANCOUVER PACKET.—The steamer plying between this city and Vancouver, under command of Capt. Turnbull, went yesterday within two miles of the latter place. Should the weather remain pleasant the ice must give way, and open navigation soon, as it was thought to be about ready to leave with the tide yesterday. Should a favorable report be brought over by this packet today, the steamer Wilson G. Hunt will make an effort to reach the Cascades, and we shall hope for certain communication with the Upper Columbia, before the close of the week.

ACCIDENTS AT ASTORIA.—During the excitement and tumult at Astoria, incident to a steamship changing off a cargo at the wharves of that obsolete burg, seven men fell overboard from the triangular dock, and one of them was drowned—a man named Lumberg. He is said to have friends in San Francisco. The greatest confusion is said to have existed, from the time the steamship landed. There were five men floundering in the river at one time.

HOME AGAIN.—Warren Leland of the Metropolitan Hotel, New York, was to leave Salt Lake city for the East on the 28th of December. By the time he returns to the Metropolitan he will have been absent four months, during which he will have crossed the continent twice, looked in on Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, and the eastern Territory of Nebraska. He has generally made an extensive acquaintance where ever he went, and we shall trust to his impression of our community for fair representations.

STILL MORE.—Two sets of machinery for boats on our Oregon rivers, and one or two new quartz mills for operation upon the gold and silver lodes of our country, arrived by the last steamship. This is what we need, and it speaks well for the confidence of capitalists to see them so investing their money. We want saw-mills, and manufactories, and notwithstanding Oregon City and this city, are doing much at the present time to relieve these wants, the public will find that there is room for more.

THE IRWINS.—Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Irwin arrived by steamer yesterday, and are advertised to appear at Willamette Theatre to-morrow evening, in favorite characters. We have had the pleasure of witnessing them in Portland, on a previous occasion, and without fear of contradiction we pronounce them as good as the best. We like Mrs. Irwin in her favorite plays, and she is able to assume various castes with ready effect.

THE NEW AGE.—We have received the first No. of the first volume of a weekly journal bearing the above title, devoted to Odd Fellowship, the arts, sciences and general literature. It is a handsome, well printed paper, of eight pages, published in San Francisco, W. W. Broughton, Editor and Proprietor. It will undoubtedly be quite popular with the members of the excellent Order of which it proposes to be the established organ.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—Mr. John Knight, of this city, while at work yesterday in Captain Burns' barrel factory, had his right hand caught in a circular saw, which so lacerated his fingers that his physician, Doctor Glisan, had to amputate two of them.

NEW POTATOES.—We see by our California exchanges that new potatoes have made their appearance in the San Francisco market, selling at one dollar per pound.

FURNITURE SALE.—Mr. A. B. Richardson will dispose of a variety of goods at his auction store, corner of Front and Oak streets, to-morrow, including a desirable lot of furniture.

FREE LECTURE.—Mr. Richardson will deliver a free lecture at the Portland Practical Seminary, corner of Front and Washington streets, this evening. See advertisement in another column.

LE DOYEN'S
SARSAPARILLA, YELLOW DOCK
IODINE ALTERATIVE
CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

WITH corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood you must be sick all over. It may burst out in pimples or sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases.

Blood and Liver.

This valuable Medicine is now available to the public for the cure of

SCROFULA, CONSUMPTION, RHEUMATISM, CANCER, HEART, LIVER AND KIDNEY DISEASES, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, BRONCHITIS, DYSPEPSIA, &c.

AS A TONIC,

its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. Diseases of Dyspepsia, Emaciation and Debility, an increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and tinted. Are you sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping over you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla and cleanse out the disordered system, purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again.

AS A LITHONTRIPTIC,

it has no equal, being chemically combined with Iodine, it possesses in a high degree the power of dissolving Stone in the Bladder, and in those of the kidneys, preventing gravel formation and enlargement of the prostrate glands, irritation of the neck of the bladder, dropsy, etc.

A Greenback Case!

HAVING BEEN COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF Legal Tender Notes at par since the 17th day of December, 1862, for the rent of my handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public at large, that leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly, under protest for the rent of the

CITY OF PARIS STORE,

Making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what it costs to have such tenants. G. W. VAUGHN.

Buying Beef.—[illegible] at a butcher's stall, a customer came to make a purchase.

"What do you ask for a good looking piece of beef?"

"Thirty-eight cents a pound," was the reply.

"Cut me off eleven pounds," said the customer. "I'll [illegible] and settle for it," and he went on [illegible].

After the beef was weighed and "trimmed," I said to my friend, the provision dealer:

"I wish to know just from the curiosity of the thing, how much that piece of meat has lost in trimming."

"Very well," replied he, weighing it, "there are nine pounds and a half left."

"And eleven pounds," I added, "at thirty-eight cents a pound, equal to four dollars and eighteen cents. This, divided by nine and a half, makes just forty-four cents per pound. Rather a tall price for beef, particularly when a large share is bone!"

"The man is a fool for buying it," replied the butcher, "but no matter what the cost is, some people will buy it; and, generally, they are not the richest in the place, either!"

I thought of a certain little woman, the light of my cottage home, who manages things very differently in marketing.

In the matter of beef for instance, now the prices are so exorbitant, she purchases that which is suitable for stuffing, which can be obtained clear of bone, for twelve or fourteen cents per pound. This is her receipt for cooking:

Take a thick slice of steak, no matter how tough, of about two pounds of weight; make two gills of stuffing, of crumbs of bread, pepper, powder clove, or sweet marjoram, as you choose; roll the dressing up in the steak; wind a piece of twine around it, taking care to secure the ends. Have ready a kettle or deep stewpan, with a slice or two of pork, fried crisp. Take out the pork, and lay in the steak, and turn it on every side, until it is brown. Put in half a pint of water, a little salt, cover closely, boil slowly two hours. Add more water, after a while, if it becomes too dry. Some persons like the addition of chopped onions; half a small one is enough. When nearly done, add half a gill of catsup, if you love it.

When you take up the meat, unwind the string carefully, so as not to unroll it. Lay it in a fricasee dish, thicken the gravy, if not thick enough already, and pour it over the meat. Cut the meat in slices through the roll. The toughest meat is made tender and nutritious in this way, and it is equally nice, heated over and served the next day.

A leg of lamb, or small leg of mutton cooked one hour longer in the same manner make a good dish.

A Pen and Ink Sketch of Gen. Sherman.—An army correspondent gives the following description of General Sherman as he appeared at Kingston, Ga., a few days before departing on his great expedition:

Newspaper correspondents are usually very shy of Sherman, owing to the mistaken impression that he is the sworn enemy of the whole Bohemian fraternity. I confess that until Friday night I feared Sherman almost as much as his Satanic majesty, and many a time have I taken refuge behind some well-dressed staff officer, least Sherman's eagle eye should detect my citizen suit, and his austere voice order me to leave his lines, notwithstanding I had Grant's pass in my pocket, and had given no aid and comfort to the enemy. The other night, however, I was entrapped, and, with no line of retreat open, I braced myself for the charge. Sitting in the tent of two of his gentlemanly staff, listening to the enlivening music of Colonel Hambright's Lancaster, Pennsylvania, Band, who were serenading the General, before I was aware of the close proximity of the Chieftain whose wrath I so much feared, one of the staff presented himself at the entrance and addressing me, I moved to the entrance, when there immediately before me stood the terror of newspaper correspondents—Major-General Sherman! "General, permit me to make you acquainted with Capt. [illegible]," remarked the Aid; and before I had time to recover from my astonishment the General had extended his left hand, which I grasped, and in a moment after we were sitting in the tent engaged in a social conversation as though we had been acquainted for years. The moment my palm touched that of Sherman, and his voice uttered, "I am delighted to meet you," all terror and embarrassment disappeared, and I sat there for half an hour, listening to the compliments of the band; his laconic replies to business papers presented for indorsement, and his clear ideas upon every subject referred to.

Sitting there, beneath the canvas tent, which was lighted up by a crackling fire burning at the entrance, I had an excellent chance to study that strange genius whose word decides the destinies of more than one State, and to whose flat every bayonet yields submission. The General sat in an army chair, over the back of which one arm hung down; his small piercing eyes, one moment gazing upon the ruby flames, the next peering into the darkness beyond, as though trying to see the lungs from which the exquisite music of the band issued. The Adjutant-General presents a paper for endorsement; Sherman's eyes fall; in an instant he knew its contents, and before he has refolded it his lips dictate the endorsement, which Captain Dayton's admirable business practice enables him to comprehend at once. Sherman's eyes once more peer out; his ear is turned to catch the clear music of the opera of the Three Shepherds; his head seems to move in unison with the harmony with the notes; the simple remark, "beautiful," escapes him; his eyes drop to the floor—rest there for a moment so intently that one supposes he is sketching a three months' campaign in his great mind—the eyes are raised abruptly, and he utters a few brief words that show us he loves music and has a very nice discrimination between good and bad. He detects every error and follows it by a nervous twitch of the body that shows it does not rest pleasant in his ear. In conversation he is quick, social and winning, conveying an idea in a very few words; never experiences embarrassments in his selection of words to give his thoughts expression, and in language so clear that no one can well misunderstand him. He is indeed a remarkable man; his eyes take in more in one instant than most men do in a month. In his presence half an hour, a visitor is almost constrained to believe that Sherman has as many minds as a clock has wheels, all conforming to the mechanism of the grand whole, but each thinking for its individual self. His is a strange organization; that few men can understand but one that all who meet him are certain to admire and wonder at.

A countryman, while passing through one of our streets, saw an elegant equipage passing. After gazing in wild amazement, first on the handsome driver, then on the gentleman with folded arms and white cravat, he asked: "Which one owns the team?"

A stylish dressed young lady recently testified before a Court in Paris that she was well paid for fainting away in the theatre, out of pure emotion, at the tragical moment pointed out beforehand by the author of the play.

Despondency is the last of all evils; it is the abandonment of all good, the giving up the battle of life with dead nothingness. He who can infuse courage into the mind is the best physician.

At a crowded concert, a young lady, standing in the hall, was addressed by an honest Hibernian who was in attendance: "Indade, miss, I should be glad to give you a sate, but the empty ones are all full."

The State Printer Decision.

As this case [illegible] was decided:

State v. H. L. Pittock.—In the [illegible] Court, [illegible] County.—[illegible]

This case was [illegible] of Multnomah county at the [illegible] Term, 1864, [illegible] were desirous of making [illegible] lately this case was [illegible] a decision at a future day.

Having [illegible] the law and [illegible] as I have been able to procure, [illegible] following conclusions:

The facts in the case are these:

In June, 1858, [illegible] was elected State Printer, [illegible] in pursuance of the provisions of [illegible] the Constitution, and was duly qualified. By [illegible] his term [illegible] four years, [illegible] State [illegible] term of State officers, his official term [illegible] that day in the session of the Legislative Assembly in 1862.

At the general election in June, 1862, Harvey Gordon was elected State Printer, as the successor of Mr. Bush; but before the termination of Bush's term, Gordon died, not having qualified.

Bush continued to hold the office, and perform its duties, until after the general election, 1864, at which election H. L. Pittock, the respondent, was elected to the office (claimed to be made vacant by the death of Gordon), and qualified, and [illegible] Bush still claims the office, and has brought this suit to eject Pittock from it.

It is claimed by the relator that he holds over after the expiration of his term [illegible] of the State Constitution, which provides as follows: "All officers, except members of the Legislative Assembly, shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified." He claims that, Gordon failing to qualify, he (Bush) still holds the office and [illegible] that [illegible] tually inducted into the office for another full term of four years. That is to say, he claims that he was elected for one full term of four years, with a contingent right to the next term, and that the [illegible] happened he can hold the office another full term. Section [illegible], Art. [illegible] above quoted is general in its terms, and applies to all the officers of the State [illegible] Secretary of State, State Treasurer and County Judges as to State Printer, [illegible] four years and beyond the next general election after their election to office.

The question presented in the case at bar, is one of construction of the State Constitution; and in construing that instrument we must follow the rules established by learned authors on this subject, which is, that where such an instrument is uncertain or ambiguous in any of its terms, it should be so construed as to carry out the intent of its framers, when that intent can be ascertained with reasonable certainty, either from the instrument itself, or the records and discussions of the Convention who framed it. Nor should it be so construed as to create doubtful powers or confer doubtful privileges on individuals, when such will abridge the rights of the people to elect their officers at the stated times and places of their general elections.

Some light has been attempted to be thrown on this subject from the decisions of the Supreme Court of the State of California, on a similar question; and our words in the Constitution of that State similar to ours. In the case of the People vs. Whitman (10 Cal. Reports [illegible]), was held by a majority of the Court, Judges Burnett and Terry concurring in the opinion that Whitman, who was elected Comptroller of the State of California [illegible] was entitled to hold the said office on failure of Mondeville (who was elected as his successor) to qualify, and that there was no vacancy in the office such as the Governor could fill. In that case, Judge Field dissented from the opinion of a majority of the Court and filed a dissenting opinion.

In the case of the People on the relation of Langdon vs. Reid, 6 Cal. R. 288, the Supreme Court of California decide the same question directly the other way. Chief Justice Murray delivering the opinion of the Court and Judge Terry concurring. In this case the Court say: "The term of the incumbent is limited to two years; and the words, 'and until his successor is elected and qualified' were only incorporated to prevent a hiatus or interregnum occurring between the day of the termination of the office and the day upon which the [illegible] enters upon its duties, that from the day on which the term expires by limitation to the date of the induction of the successor he is a mere locum tenens."

Judge Terry, [illegible] last quoted, also concurred in the case of the People vs. Whitman, where the opposite doctrine is held, so he seems to have entertained different opinions at different times on this question.

This case of the People vs. Whitman was examined in the case of the People vs. Mahony, 13 Cal. 5[illegible], when it is declared by the whole Court that in favor of People vs. Whitman is of doubtful authority and it was disregarded.

It will be seen, therefore, that these cases cited from California are unsafe as a precedent; yet looking at the known learning of the Judges and their consistency on this question, the weight of authority would seem to be in favor of the position of Judge Field in his dissenting opinion in People vs. Whitman, and the opinions of the Court in People vs. Reid, and People vs. Mahony, which declare the doctrine that the words "shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified" are only intended to prevent a hiatus or interregnum in the office, and that they do not invest the incumbent who holds over with an indefeasible right to the new term on the failure of the elected successor to qualify, but that there is a vacancy in such cases which the proper authority may fill.

If this case were without authority (and it must be confessed there is none which has come within my research that is very satisfactory) taking into consideration the fundamental principle that it was the intention of the framers of the Constitution that the people should fill all offices, or nearly all, by popular election; that for that purpose a general election was provided on the first Monday of June biennially, and that by our theory of government the sovereign power of appointing officers resides in the people; Courts should be cautious in construing doubtful grants in the Constitution so as to restrain and control the election of officers by the popular vote.

Reference has been made to the case of State ex rel Ensis, 18 Missouri R. 33[illegible]. I have not been able to obtain the report of this case. Chief Justice Marcy, in commenting on this case, says: "The decision in that case is by his [illegible] commended by sound reasoning on the part of the Court. It proceeds upon the hypothesis that as long as the incumbent remained in office after the expiration of his term, he continued with the approbation of the Legislature (the appointing power) and that there could not be a vacancy so long as there was a person in the office able to discharge its duties."

In that case it seems the Legislature were the appointing power, and that one Legislature having failed to fill the office, which it was their duty to have filled, the incumbent held over until the next Legislature. If the case cited had been one where the office was for a term of years extending during two successive Legislatures, and the first Legislature having failed to fill the office, it had been held by the Court of Missouri that the next succeeding Legislature had no power to fill it; that the Legislature whose duty it was to fill the office, having failed to perform that trust, the incumbent, by reason of that failure, became inducted into the office for another full term, then that case and the one at bar would have a parallel. But as it is, so far as I have been able to examine the point decided, that case is no authority in this.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Henly, 9 Barr, has been referred to, but the report containing that case has not been furnished and is not at hand to be examined. All that I have seen of that case is cited in the opinion of Chief Justice Murray above referred to (see People vs. Reid 5 Cal. 290) and I will here insert what that learned Judge says as to the authority of that case. After saying that the reasoning of the case of Commonwealth vs. Henly was unsatisfactory, Judge Murray says: "In that case the Constitution of Pennsylvania provided that the [illegible] the Clerks of Orphan's Courts should hold their offices for three years, if they should so long behave themselves well, and until their successors are duly qualified. Under this provision Henly was elected and commissioned for three years, and until his successor was qualified. He was elected at the expiration of three years, but died before he was qualified. The Constitution gave the Governor the power to fill vacancies by appointment, until the next election, and it was held that, notwithstanding the three years for which Henly was commissioned had expired, he was entitled to hold on against the appointee of the Governor."

Judge Murray continues: "Take these two decisions of Missouri and Pennsylvania and apply them to the Constitution of the State of California, and see what the practical working will be. The successor of a Supreme or District Judge, or other officer elected by the people, fails to qualify, and thereby defeats the people in their Constitutional right of election, and continues the incumbent in office for another full term; for it must be borne in mind, if there is no result obtained the regular election for such offices, there is no authority to call another election at any future time, except to fill a vacancy; and if a vacancy does not occur by failure to qualify or the expiration of the term, the officer holds over for another full term. If such be the inevitable consequences of the rule, it is evidently the duty of the Court to adopt such a construction as would carry out the plain intendment of the Constitution, which are in favor of the election of officers by the popular vote."

The construction asked by the relator in the case at bar would lead to results similar to those sought to be avoided by the Court of California in the opinion just cited, though the cases are not parallel. The case at bar is a stronger case against the relator than the case cited, because it would carry the holding over beyond a general election, where the question arose on the authority of the Governor to appoint where the successor failed to qualify, [illegible] elected at the general election [illegible] to fill the vacancy. If the construction [illegible] all the result will be that all officers in the State [illegible] tary of State, Treasurer, State Printer, and County Judge will, on failure of their successors to qualify, be inducted into another full term.

It will now proceed to examine the provisions of the Constitution of this State on this subject. It provides: "There shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State, at the times and places of choosing members of the Legislative Assembly, a State Printer, who shall hold his office for four years." The term of office is fixed at four years. No express provision is made for filling a successor. Still the right of appointing a successor belongs to the people by the theory of government, as certainly as it had been so declared in the Constitution. It is easily seen that the [illegible] for a time and a manner for exercising this right [illegible] The times fixed by the [illegible] Art. [illegible] the Constitution which provides [illegible] be held on the first Monday of June biennially. The term generally [illegible] one term of four years are provided for in the Constitution, and there are two general elections in each term of four years, [illegible] terms ought to be filled to continue the full and perfect organization and existence of the Government.

If there be any office which [illegible] for at a general election, vacant, and no other special mode provided for filling it, the electors may then rightfully fill it. It is in legal exercise of their sovereignty many [illegible] their own rulers, and every intendment of the Constitution is in favor of filling offices by the people at general elections, and in construing the Constitution this [illegible] right of [illegible] the people must be [illegible] any intent of [illegible]

[illegible] If the Convention had intended that all officers should [illegible] of their successors elected [illegible] would have [illegible] would have [illegible] in that case [illegible] Art. [illegible] of Pittock.

Proclamation.

State of Oregon, Executive Department, January 12th, 1865.

Whereas, I have received a requisition from Major-General Irwin McDowell, commanding the Department of the Pacific, acting under the authority of the War Department, for a regiment of Cavalry for another term of years, by retaining the whole or in part the Regimental and Company organization of the present Oregon regiment of Cavalry, to be in sufficient force consistent with the laws to suppress insurrection and to chastise hostile Indians in this District.

Now, therefore, I, Addison C. Gibbs, Governor of the State of Oregon, Commander-in-chief of the Militia thereof, do hereby call on the [illegible] of the State to organize themselves into Companies sufficient for all the foregoing requisition.

[L. S.] In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State to be affixed. Done at Salem this 12th day of January, A. D. 1865.

ADDISON C. GIBBS,
Governor of Oregon.

Attest: Samuel E. May,
Secretary of State.

Plan of Recruiting.

The Regiment will retain the name of the 1st Cavalry Oregon Volunteers. It will consist of twelve companies—seven Companies of the old Regiment will be recruited to the minimum or maximum required. Five new Companies remain to be raised. A Recruiting Officer for each new Company will be appointed.

Commissions will be issued by the Governor to Recruiting Officers, conditioned that they shall recruit their respective Companies in the District to which they are assigned, and be ready to be mustered into the service within a time hereafter to be named. All the officers for the new Companies and the First and Second Lieutenants for the old ones will be appointed as soon as the Companies are filled.

As soon as is practicable, the State will be divided into Districts, according to the number of persons in each liable to do military duty and to the number of those in service of each furnished. When such District has furnished its quota of men there will be no draft in the same under this call.

The State has provided by law for the payment of a bounty of $150 in State interest bearing bonds, payable in gold, to each Volunteer mustered into service for three years, in addition to the bounties authorized to be paid by the United States.

Under Act of Congress, those who enlist for one year are entitled to one hundred dollars; for two years, two hundred dollars; and for three years, three hundred dollars, one third of which is payable at the time of muster in. Neither drafted men nor substitutes are entitled to either before or after the draft are entitled to bounty.

The wages of a Private soldier are $16 a month, besides clothing, equipments, rations, medicines and medical attendance, and other allowances furnished by the United States.

HAVEMEYER MANSION, 57th STREET, New York, August 2, 1863.

"Dr. Drake: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been [illegible] children suffering from weakness and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well. [illegible]

GENERAL DEBILITY, ETC.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,

Whether induced by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by disease, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once restored to its full vigor and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING
OR PAINFUL
URINATING, TO CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Boils, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhoea, [illegible] the Prostrating Effects of Lead or Mercury,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

The proofs of its efficacy are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest efforts of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the Medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown, and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M. D.,

IODINE WATER.

Iodine Water is the most important discovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its importance as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and the ablest of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system, [illegible] to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS and GLANDULAR SYSTEM, and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr. Henry Anders, physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a [illegible]. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journal, and its use recommended to practitioners. See "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1860, page 7[illegible].

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its multiplied forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, &c.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, after its pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

"The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS;
Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

Its action is expectorant, alterative, sudorific, sedative, diaphoretic and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours time, if not of too long standing. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction even in the most confirmed cases of consumption. It is warranted not to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
